To all our valued customers:

The issue of zinc as an added ingredient in the manufacturing of denture adhesive products is of high interest to consumers recently. This question was brought to the public's attention when national brand manufacturers of Denture Adhesive were tested for the level of zinc in their products.

Sheffield Pharmaceuticals manufactures denture adhesive products for several national and international retailers as well as our own Sheffield Staydent brand.

As a prime manufacturer of denture adhesive products, Sheffield Pharmaceuticals does not formulate with any added zinc to any of our denture adhesive products.
